Town Tax Rate Is Unchanged at 50 Mills

Town of Vulcan ratepayers will pay the same taxes as they did last year as the result of Monday night's council meeting, when mill rates for 1956 were set. The total mill rate remains unchanged at 50 mills, comprised of School 25 mills, Hospital 3 mills, Municipal 22 mills. The school rate is the same as last year, hospital rate is down one mill and municipal rate is up one mill.

The assessment of the previous year has been adopted.

Application for a building permit by the Alberta Wheat Pool to construct a new grain elevator in Vulcan was approved. The new elevator will cost approximately $50,000, will have a capacity of 83,000 bushels and will be located second from the end in elevator row, next to the Independent Grain Co. elevator on the same site that was occupied years ago by Wheat Pool No. 2 elevator.

Council agreed to purchase from

L. A. Mueller the land on which the fire station across the road from the elevators is located.

A zoning by-law was introduced to rezone the block behind the Armouries (Block 35) into a commercial area to allow the construction on it of a trailer camp. Objections to the by-law, if any, will be heard by the council at the town office on Monday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m.

The law firm of Jamison & Kush was given the appointment of town solicitors at a retaining fee of $50.00.

O. B. Roe was appointed building inspector and Const. J. L. Moyer was appointed plumbing inspector.

More men hunt ducks and geese in Canada than any other kind of game.

Everything is interesting, if only one makes study of it.

Elston-Mote Wedding Rites

The Vulcan Church of Christ was the setting for a recent spring wedding when Miss Helen Claire Mote was united in marriage to James Newton Elston. Mr. J. Chapman performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Mote of Ensign and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Elston of Spanaway, Wash., U.S.A.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length Early Princess gown of lace and tulle over satin. A sweetheart neckline and lily-point sleeves highlighted the sequined bodice and the bouffant skirt fell over crinoline. Her fingertip veil misted from at coronet of pearl sequins, and she carried a bouquet of red carnations with white streamers. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls which had belonged to her grandmother.

The maid of honor, Miss Betty Turley of Calgary was attired in a powder blue floor length gown of lace and not over taffeta with matching bolero and mitts. Her bandeau was of matching net and she carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Jessie Gothard, cousin of the bride, wore a pastel yellow floor length gown of net over taffeta with matching mitts. Her bandeau was of matching net and she carried a bouquet of blue carnations.

William Turley, brother-in-law of the groom was bestman, while Earl Mote, brother of the bride, and Doug Loose of Magrath acted as ushers.

After the guests had been ushered into the church, F. D. Motter of Calgary rendered the solo "O Perfect Love." Following the ceremony a reception for 52 relatives and friends was held in the Ensign hall. Receiving with the bridal couple were the parents of each.

Mrs. Mote wore for her daughter's wedding a navy blue sheer crepe dress with which she chose pink accessories and a pink corsage. The groom's mother Mrs. L. E. Elston, chose a two-toned gray and gold printed taffeta with black accessories, wearing a red carnation corsage.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked with pink and white tapers and low vases of spring flowers. A cold turkey supper was served. Mr. Chapman acted as master of ceremonies and the toast to the bride was proposed by F. D. Motter and very suitably replied to by the groom who then proposed a toast to Mr. and Mrs. Mote on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. William Turley toasted the bridesmaids.

The bride chose for going away a mustard colored wool suit topped by a grey coat with red accessories and wore a red carnation corsage. The young couple motored to Calgary for a few days honeymoon and will then leave to make their home at Spanaway, Wash.

"Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Gothard of Gearhart, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Montgomery, of Nampa, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Motter, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Motter, Mrs. A. Turley, all of Calgary; Mrs. H. Brown of Okotoks; Mr. and Mrs. D. Loose of Magrath; Mr. and Mrs. M. Brunskill and Sharon of Blackie; and Mr. and Mrs. E. Anhorn of Ardrie.

Macleod Federal Liberals Name New Executive

Henry Hammond of Pincher Creek was named president of the Macleod Federal Liberal Association at the Association's annual meeting held at Fort Macleod on Friday afternoon. First vice-president is T. J. Costigan of Blairmore, second vice-president Mrs. S. J. Dowhan of Nanton and third vice-president is James Lee of Carmangay. Mr. Hammond will appoint a secretary in his vicinity to be approved at the executive meeting to be held at Nanton the last week in May. C. C. Jessup of Nanton is treasurer.

The meeting directed the executive to hold a nominating convention before September 1.

Pincher Creek Spur

A motion was approved endorsing the resolution of the Pincher Creek community asking that the spur line which will be built into the district pass through or near the town of Pincher Creek which has never had a railway line. The acting secretary was asked to write to the Board of Transport Commissioners, the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Minister of Transport in connection with the matter, pointing out the needs of the community and asking that if at all practicable, consideration be given to the route through the town.

Railway Cars

A resolution concerning the distribution of railway cars along the Aldersyde-Lethbridge line was debated at length and finally the resolution was reworded to include a request for a better deal for all wheat areas where there is a heavy carry-over.

A committee of five will be set up to study the question of the national health program in its second phase, that of hospitalization. Presidents of the provincial constituencies within the Macleod federal division were named to the executive committee.

Provincial Business

After a coffee break at three o'clock the convention reconvened as a joint provincial meeting during which provincial business was dealt with and Arthur Soetart, MLA of St. Albert, gave an account of the provincial session which prorogued recently. He said that the reasons given by the cabinet for changing back to the x-ballot had been very weak. As for the Game Act as a farmer and a hunter, Mr. Soetart was very critical of the amendments. He commented that, far from being a protection for the landowner, the amendments left him somewhat worse off than he was before. The set-up at present is an encouragement to the careless and irresponsible hunter which works a hardship on the hunter who is responsible.

Plan Organization Of Calf Club Later This Year

On Thursday afternoon, March 29, Hugh Michael, District Agriculturist, addressed a meeting at Berrywater Community Centre on "The Ways and Means of Forming of a 4-H Calf Club." The main points brought out were as follows: The 4-H Club comes under the same administration right across Canada from coast to coast; a 4-H Council coordinating all the work; previously the name was the Junior Club. In the province of Alberta the 4-H Clubs are administered by the Provincial Dept. of Agriculture, 4-H Club work is also a large international movement with rural youth in 84 countries participating.

The 4-H Pledge is: "I pledge my head to clearer thinking, My heart to greater loyalty, My hands to larger services, My health to better living, for my club, my community and my country."

Directors of agricultural societies have said that 4-H Club work has revived the local fair and returned it to the farmer.

In starting a 4-H Club the first thing to do is to elect a president and secretary from the ranks of the young people interested and to set up a leader and a committee of three or four adults chosen for their knowledge and interest in the project to act in an advisory capacity.

Clubs may be formed for Grain, Calves, Pigs, Sheep, Chickens and Gardens and may hold their meetings together as long as each project is kept separate. All clubs are open to boys and girls, the age

50th Wedding Anniversary

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Lars Helland of Champion who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Mar. 3, 1906.

A turkey dinner for the immediate family was held in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Helland and family with "open house" following for their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Helland were married in North Dakota in 1906 by the Rev. A. J. Hammer. Before her marriage, Mrs. Helland was Miss Ella Gifford. Mr. and Mrs. Helland settled in Lomond in 1928.

They have three daughters and one son: Mrs. Alice Martell of Calgary, Mrs. Gladys Christensen of Champion, Mrs. Luella Taylor of Ottawa and Earl Helland of Lomond. There are 10 grandchildren.

Around 60 guests signed the guest book and many friends were unable to be present due to the storm and road conditions.

The room was prettily decorated for the occasion with gold and white streamers and bells and golden horseshoes. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake with a golden horseshoe on the top and flanked with yellow candles and bouquets of yellow mums.

The happy couple received a Westminster chime clock from their family, a gold locket and a gold tie clip from their grandchildren, a chest of silverware from their many friends in the community as well as numerous other individual gifts.

Telegrams of congratulations were received from Sweden and Vauxhall, also phone calls from Medicine Hat, Champion and other points.

Two mock wedding ceremonies were performed, one in the morning by the grandchildren, which proved very entertaining with little Larry Helland the bridegroom, Elaine Helland the bride, and Ronnie Martell, the minister. A very amusing ceremony was performed again in the afternoon during open house. Those taking part were Harry Hammer as the minister, Mrs. Edith Neilson the bride, and Ernie Donaghy the groom.

The only out-of-town guests who were able to be present were Mr. and Mrs. Martell and family from Calgary.

Bus System "One of Best"

School Bus Owners Re-elect Smith President

The annual supper meeting of the Vulcan County School Bus Owners Association was held in the IOOF hall, Friday, April 6, with the Rebekah Lodge catering for a delicious turkey dinner.

Wif Blittorf of Milo acted as master-of-ceremonies for the program which followed the dinner. Members of the County Council and the School Committee, present as guests, were introduced by County Secretary-Treasurer D. D. McQueen. A question period was held, with Mr. McQueen explaining some of the policies of the school committee. A. L. Schrag, school superintendent, expressed his satisfaction at the job being done by the school bus owners and J. E. Carlson, council chairman, stated that a new graveling program was being introduced this year with the objective of having all school bus routes gravelled within the next three years.

Doug Smith, president of the Association, gave his report in the form of a review of what has been done by the Bus Owners Association, such as equalizing of bus rates in accordance with the type of bus in use and maintaining close liaison with the county school committee. He pointed out that the Inspector of School Buses for Alberta had stated that the Vulcan County school bus system was one of the best in the province.

Later, the bus owners adjourned to hold their annual meeting in the hall, with Doug Smith in the chair and Roy McIntyre as secretary. Arising from this meeting was the appointing of committees to check further into a group insurance plan suitable for bus owners, to look into the possibility of tax free gas for school buses, and to draw up a written contract with the County. Election of officers took place of cattle. The best calf is generally taken care of quite well by a bank and other organizations. If a calf club materializes in the district Berrywater FUA is prepared to offer a prize of $25.00 to be apportioned as may be later decided on. A meeting will be called in the fall at which young people interested please attend.

Calves need not be purchased but should be sired if possible by a purebred bull and be a beef breed. Calves must be born in the current year, say March to May, for the best results. Starting on Nov. 1, calves are only allowed one month on the cow. The District Agriculturist will make an inspection of all members' calves to see that this is strictly adhered to.

Calves are on feed from the 1st of November to the 1st of June. At this time they are shown judged and sold at some central point, High River, Macleod or Claresholm, where there are suitable corrals and yards and are convenient for the buyers.

A Calf Club is not a money making proposition but rather to get young people to take an interest in stock and learn to fit and judge stock.

Last year, 1955, the calves averaged 2c over the market. All proceeds are pooled. Buyers come from Calgary.

In running a 4-H Club the meetings can be divided in three parts:

(1) Business Meeting. To be businesslike and to the point; (2) Educational Meetings, Pictures, Talks by District Agriculturist and others on feeding, judging and fitting; (3) Recreational. Dance and Program; (4) During the holidays a club could tour the area of other clubs and get new ideas. Regarding prizes, it is recommended that these be given for the: (1) Best feeding records; (2) Showmanship; (3) Best members; (4) Best judge

Four Teams in League

Babe Ruth Baseball To Start May 7th

Action in the Wheatbelt Babe Ruth League commences on Monday, May 7, when all four teams will be in action. Teams are entered from Champion, Carmangay, Milo and Vulcan. Players in this league are of the ages 13, 14, and 15, and play seven inning ball games. Develop understanding of and respect for the rules;
Develop courage in defeat, tolerance and modesty in victory;
Develop control over emotions and speech;
Develop spirit of cooperation and team play;

Red Cross Fund Short of Objective

Tough roads the last few weeks have slowed up canvassing in the country districts for the annual Red Cross Society campaign and the fund now stands at $1364, considerably short of the objective of $2500.

Canvassing is now being resumed and the town canvass will also be completed as soon as possible. Donations may be made direct to the local campaign headquarters at the Vulcan Branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Brant Youngsters Receive Awards

Philip and Caroline Gingras of the Brant district, who last winter saved their sister from drowning, were honored with Scout and Guide awards respectively at a recent ceremony.

Their younger sister Diane had fallen in a six-foot deep water hole while the trio were tobogganning last winter and Philip and Caroline risked their own lives to pull her to safety.

At the brief ceremony, Harry Dill, provincial field man for the Boy Scouts presented Philip with the Governor-General's Scout certificate for life-saving, and R. V. Moore, divisional commissioner, presented the Girl Guides' Gilt Cross to Caroline, and read a commendatory letter from the Chief Guide Commissioner.

Help The Red Cross

Slogan for the 1956 Red Cross campaign for funds in Alberta is "It Does What You Would Do If You Were There." This is a summing up, in as few words as possible, the work of Red Cross which simply does the work which all humanitarian-minded citizens would do if they had the opportunity.

It is only logical that because all those who wish to help others cannot be on hand to do the work themselves that an organization should take over and do the job. It is also logical that an organization should coordinate the help offered and utilize it in the best means possible.

All programs of Red Cross are designed to assist suffering humanity in the best possible way and Red Cross with its provincial, national and international affiliations stands ready to expedite help across the world.

In our own province, with 42 years' service and experience making a memorable contribution towards the well-being of its citizens, the Red Cross continues its efforts to prevent disease, improve health and mitigate suffering.

The enormous amount of good done by the Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital since 1922 and the Blood Transfusion Service since 1947 cannot be questioned. And, during these 42 years' service, let us not forget the many other programs such as the Junior Red Cross, Prisoners of War parcels, Women's Work Committee, Swimming and Water Safety and Disaster Relief which have done more than their share in rendering service.

Once each year, in March, the Red Cross asks for funds to carry on its work. We cannot do less than support the Red Cross as generously as we are financially able.

Uneven Justice

The Canadian government has again turned down a proposal to do away with the floor of three per cent on deductions from income tax for medical expenses, claiming that the benefits would be unevenly distributed and that loss of revenue would be substantial. Consider this philosophy. Of course the benefits would be unevenly distributed. And with excellent precedent. The whole income tax system is based upon this principle—if one earns more, one pays more and at a higher rate; if one earns less, one pays less and at a lower rate. The same theory could quite logically be applied to an unwell family versus a well family (that is, the unwell folk would get more relief. It is late in the day to cite "uneven distribution of benefits" when the Government grants baby bonuses to families with children and none to childless families, and grants a $500 extra exemption to people over 65 but not to people under 65. These are, and quite properly, "uneven distribution of benefits."

As for the statement that "the loss of revenue would be substantial"—which is worse, to lose this tax revenue and in so doing effect tremendous savings by avoiding national health insurance, or to keep this blood money and indulge in an admittedly extremely costly and unwieldy obligatory insurance plan?

Could it be, by any chance, that the bureaucrats are feeding the public with every possible argument, ridiculous or not, to kill off all suggestions designed to keep their ranks from swelling?

—The Printed Word

Costly

The General Motors strike, just settled, affected 17,250 men in five plants. During the 148 days when the plants were idle the men lost 1,604,500 man-days and $26,613,753 in wage potential. The average loss was $1,542 per man.

At an average of 300 working days a year of eight hours each, potential employment is 2,400 hours per year per man. At the 25-cent per hour gain in wage and fringe benefits, it will require more than 6,000 hours to catch up for wages lost. That means two and one-half years.

Surely there is some more sensible way of settling these differences than by using the strike weapon. Or are we not as civilized as we like to boast?

The Peace River country won a long and drawn out battle in the house last week when Highway Minister Gordon Taylor announced work will start this year on a new bridge over the Peace at Dunvegan.

However, it will be two or three years before the structure is finished. Plans have barely been started, and it is expected work this year will involve only preparation of the site.

system of making grants to cover municipal costs.

A statement on the new deal was issued in the house by Provincial Treasurer E. W. Hinman, who was careful to point out that it did not represent government policy, but was only a basis for launching forthcoming discussions between provincial and municipal officials.

Some observers see it also as laying the groundwork for a day when the province will no longer rake in millions of dollars from the sale of oil and gas leases. This is the lucrative source which has made generous municipal grants possible, and when it disappears where does the money come from?

Mr. Hinman's statement did not answer the question, but much of it was devoted to an analysis of the forms of taxation which could be considered in the proposed re-vamping of revenue sources.

As a result, many observers are wondering whether new taxes may result from the government's proposed "comprehensive survey" of provincial-municipal financial relations.

The brief devoted considerable attention to income tax, sales tax and poll tax. It discussed the pros and cons of each tax, without expressing any definite view.

The statement suggested a new plan for sharing provincial revenues. It would be an "acceptable step," it said to agree that the province should continue to handle revenue from natural resources and use them to the best advantage of all citizens.

Then it posed the question: "Can we agree that all other sources of revenue are provincial-municipal revenues and must be apportioned without strings between province and municipalities...?"

These provincial-municipal revenues, which apparently would be turned over to the municipalities are: federal subsidies and payments; profits from trading activities such as liquor sales; fines, fees, licenses and service charges, and "province-wide taxes which may be levied on behalf of the province and the municipalities."

The brief said the first three revenue sources can be predicted with accuracy and divided with some equity, and concluded that: "Whatever funds are needed beyond these must come from taxes."

Mr. Hinman's statement was fairly non-committal. In fact, it was a masterpiece of fence-sitting, couched in extremely cautious language. But, combined with other recent statements by the treasurer and other public officials, a reasonably clear picture of the government's plan may be formed.

Most of the provincial grants likely will disappear. The government's distaste for them is summed up in a paragraph of the brief which said: "They have forced unlimited spending, wasteful extravagance and, worst of all, a decay in democratic virility. The municipal governments have become mere spending agents for the province..."

Following it was perhaps one of the most significant statements of all: "There is a rising threat of collapse of the whole relationship should provincial revenues suddenly cease to be buoyant."

So instead of grants, the municipalities will likely have their own means of raising money and the responsibility of spending it in the best manner.

The official government attitude appears to be that if municipalities want something extra, they will have to find ways of paying for it, and this is where extra taxes could come in.

Mr. Hinman's brief deals in part with taxes which could be collected by the province on behalf of municipalities, in the event regular sources of revenue don't cover the services municipalities want to provide.

The whole question is an involved one, and will undoubtedly undergo lengthy study. What the exact outcome will be is anyone's guess, but it is certain there will be sweeping changes.

"Dollars and Sense"

How can YOU benefit from having a Current Account?

You'll find it much easier to keep an accurate record of your current expenses when you have a Current Account.

When you pay all bills by cheque on your Current Account, you receive back, at the end of each month, all your cancelled cheques as well as a bank statement showing every withdrawal and every deposit you have made. The cancelled cheques serve as receipts—and are accepted in court as evidence of payment of the amount shown. Furthermore, they are much easier to file away than receipts and take less room to store. With them and your bank statements, you'll find it far easier to get an exact picture of how you spend your money. So it's a good move to use a Current Account for paying all current bills—and keep your Savings Account for actual savings.

SEED TREATMENT PAYS

The treatment of smut and other seed borne diseases has come a long way since the days when the use of formaldehyde was standard practice and there are available today a number of reliable organic mercury chemicals for the treatment of seed which give very satisfactory protection at relatively small cost per bushel. In addition, there is now protection in the form of dual purpose treatments, against seedling blight, root rot and wireworm damage. Plan to use one of these seed treatments this spring.

SERVICE BOARD NOTES

H. S. Burns, Field Supervisor

Another spring run-off brings to our attention the great losses to our soil by water erosion. This goes on to a certain extent during and after every rain but very little thought is given to this; it is only in periods of melting snow and after cloudbursts that we take much notice of the damage being done.

No one will deny that there is plenty of room for prevention measures in this area as well as reclamation measures where damage has already taken place. We would like at this time to reiterate some of the control methods recommended by the Department of Soils of the Field Crops Branch.

Follow a good crop rotation aimed at building up the fibre content of the soil. Grass and Legume crops included.

Avoid bare summerfallow as much as possible in areas subject to erosion.

Keep a trash cover if possible, when land is not in crop. Conserve all residues and do not burn stubble.

Seed down waterways that are washing or better still, seed them down before the damage takes place.

Keep steep slopes in permanent grass.

Strip-cropping across fields that slope and wash easily will help.

Always work across rather than up and down slopes.

Cover crops and winter crops help where spring erosion occurs. Dam runways with straw, brush, stones or other material so as to stop the fast rush of water.

Remember, that if you have erosion trouble that a start can not be made too soon to applying control measures as there is evidence right here in our county where land has suffered immeasurable loss due to neglect, and working the fields for convenience rather than with an eye to conservation as our most valuable asset.

Double Feature Program

The territory covered ranges from Death Valley to the Pecos, from the Sierra Nevadas to the Rockies. There is comedy in the antics of the round-tailed ground squirrels, flippancy in a drama in a fierce battle between a red-tailed hawk and a rattlesnake; romance in a contest of two plodding male turtles for the favors of a shell-backed siren; ferocity in a duel between a wasp and a tarantula; while other episodes include the defense of her young by a valiant kangaroo rat against a serpent; the chase of a trespassing bobcat by an outraged family of desert peccaries, and the courtship dance of a pair of scorpions in the moonlight.

AND

A feature exposed in Reno's most famous casino. Bright lines of dialog, humorous situations and authentic atmosphere supply the background for a fantastic scheme to rob the place, just to prove it could be done.

the other hand, it may be carried by wind to the front of the car and drawn in by the air conditioning heater.

When one realizes that the deadly gas cannot be seen, tasted or smelled, the hazards appear all the more alarming.

"The only defence is plenty of fresh air to carry the gas away," says the Safety Council official. "It should be realized that whenever a gasoline engine is running, it is producing carbon monoxide gas and this gas must be prevented from accumulating in any enclosed space where there are people.

"Defective exhaust systems have caused thousands of people to be overcome because, when the gas escapes under the passenger compartment, it is so often found a way inside, even when the car is travelling at 60 miles an hour.

"A quick and effective inspection can be made by placing the car on a hoist with the engine running. If the temperature is freezing or nearly so exhaust gas can be seen wherever it escapes.

"Examine the exhaust system from engine manifold to tail pipe and replace any part which has burned through or been broken by striking rocks or other obstructions on the road. If there is a burned out muffler it is impossible to have repairs made. The only safe solution is a new muffler."

Delayed Seeding
Of Grain Crops

The practice of shallow tillage of summer-fallow early in the spring followed by seeding ten days later, has given substantial yield increases over seeding immediately after, or in conjunction with, early tillage.

D. E. Forsberg of the Scott Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture, reports that the practices has been especially effective in the Dark Brown Soil Zone of Saskatchewan, in the drier seasons, particularly when soil moisture reserves were high at seeding time. In 1951, when most crops in this area suffered from June droughts, wheat, oats and barley on summer-fallow yielded 1.8, 12.3, and 13.2 bushels per acre respectively more by this procedure than when seeding was done in the usual manner. Oats responded best to this treatment with a thirteen year average yield increase of 8.7 bushels per acre.

In the relatively dry seasons of 1951 and 1953, the response of cereal grains to ammonium phosphate 11-48-0 was considerably better when the fertilizer was used with the delayed seeding plan as compared to the usual method of seeding. Even in the years 1952 and 1955, when there was plenty of moisture, 11-48-0 gave the best results with early shallow tillage of summer-fallow and delayed seeding.

Delayed seeding resulted in faster and more uniform germination of crops and more vigorous subsequent growth than when a combination of tillage and immediate seeding was used. The average period of time of seeding to maturity of the crop was about one week shorter in delayed seeding. Results indicate that seeding should be not be delayed more than ten days.

Shallow tillage should be done as early as possible in the spring to preserve soil moisture. Any implement which can be operated at a uniform shallow depth and which will not pulverize the soil can be used for the early tillage operation.

Carbon Monoxide
Gas Is Killer

Each and every year, deadly carbon monoxide or poison gas takes its toll in Alberta. Several deaths have been due to this cause since the opening of the new year only a few weeks ago. The victims were all car drivers or passengers.

Official figures are not yet available on the number of fatalities due to this "Creeping Killer". In 1955, the number was six, of which five occurred in cars and one in a truck, according to officials of the Alberta vital statistics branch.

A price of six deaths or less is too much to pay, when safety precautions would almost wipe out this toll.

The Alberta Safety Council has just issued another warning that carbon monoxide is one of the deadliest killers of the cold weather season. It sneaks up without warning.

The victims often are lovers who park with the engine running, businessmen who like to warm up the car in a garage, and drunks who go to sleep in a car with the engine running.

Paul Lawrence, safety director for the Safety Council, says there are cases on record where whole carloads of people were overcome without one victim noticing that the others were dropping off.

The official says the deadly gas may enter the car through the floor boards, as the result of a broken or burned out muffler. On

OUR HATS ARE

Our Civic Employees of the Town of Vulcan and the County. These men generally get plenty of abuse and very little praise from the public.

But let us stop and think for a moment of all the things they do for us day after day and I'm sure you will agree we should say — well done, boys!

Even if they can't do a particular job when we think it should be, they are probably doing something else that needs doing worse than our's.
